“ I miss my grandpa so much, and when he was here I regret not telling him I loved him as much as I should have, but like everyone said you knew, and that's what matters. But I now know not to waste time to tell people you love that you love them. because tomorrow is never guaranteed.

“ Dad,

As I was growing up and even into adulthood, we were not what you would call close. We often butted heads and disagreed on quite a lot. This last year, since I became ill, we had many days that we had one on one time as I was receiving treatments. We had the opportunity to talk about a lot of things. You have been one of my rocks to lean on during this cruel time in my life. You were there for me to vent my fears and anger, not only over the cancer but life in general and never once did we butt heads. I'm sure you did not agree with some of my statements, decisions, etc, but you never once "argued" with me about it.

Growing up, you taught me to be responsible and independent. Your lessons were successful. I am proud of what I was able to accomplish on my own based off what you taught. I have actually said on more than one occasion "It's Dad's fault".

(laughing) For example, always taking that extra step at work that kept me there longer but allowed the job to be completed and accurate.

I will be forever thankful for the gift I was given as an infant to have been given a life with 2 loving parents. I couldn't have wished or asked for anything more.

I can only hope that you knew without being told what an amazing, caring, dependable, giving, humorous, loving and wonderful dad you were. I regret not telling you more often how much I love you and what a difference you made in my life.

I miss you every day Dad. Until we meet again, please keep watch over us all. I love you.

“ Dad,

I miss you and still can't believe that you are gone. It wasn't until the last couple years or so that we became close. Typical stubborn me, would butt heads with you every chance I got. Especially my earlier years. But in the last year, since I became ill, we had grown closer than ever. You were one of my rocks that I could lean on when I was too tired of fighting this alone. We still may not have agreed on everything, but you let me state my fears and my anger without judging or disagreeing. We spent time talking of these as I was getting my chemo treatments and you always gave me support, regardless of my decisions and choices. Things all changed and happened so fast. Here today, gone tomorrow. It opened my eyes to the fact that nothing in life is guaranteed and that no one should put things off. People always say to take each day as it comes as you never know about tomorrow. How true that is. I wish I could turn back the hands of time and tell you things I should have said long ago. I can only hope that you already knew without me telling you, but you were the best dad I could have hoped for. You taught me many valuable lessons through life that I practice on a regular basis. When I needed to lean, you were always there to help and listen without expecting anything in return. I was truly given a gift as an infant to have been given to 2 loving, deserving parents as my own. I will miss our spontaneous coffee chats at the house, the humor, the support, the unconditional love that you showed. I miss you every day and love you more than words can say. Until we meet again Dad, keep watch over all of us. Love you Dad!

“ Words will never describe how eternally grateful I am for having an amazing man like you as my grandfather. I couldn't have asked for a stronger, sweeter, more generous and loving man to guide myself and our family through the years. I admire you, and I will forever cherish and hold every memory we have deep in my heart. Gone too soon, but only until we meet again. For now, watch over us up there angel. Missing you always, I LOVE YOU GRANDPA! Rest In Peace.

“ Grandpa, I miss you so much words can't explain the heartache and pain I'm feelings as the days have gone by. I remember you always teasing me and taking my phone and acting like it never happened. You were a one of a kind man. You served in the army and military and I'm so very grateful for that service you provided us. You taught everyone in this family how to love and be a good person. As much as we all drove you crazy we all loved each other. I can't believe your actually gone. It all happened so quick and unexpectedly. But your in your home now and that's with the Lord. Where you've yearned to be since the beginning. I Love You Grandpa Rest Easy. Your deeply missed.

“ Daddy you have only been gone a few days but it seems a lot longer. I miss your encouraging words to get me through the day when I have enough. I just keep trying to hear your voice and I talk to you when I talk to Greandmas star. I hope you know we are all trying to do as you and mom have taught us and we will make you proud and take care of each other so when we meet again we can see your smile. I miss you terribly but with knowing your in heaven it eases the pain because your happy. I love you papa.

“ I worked with Carl for sixteen years at Frontier Insurance. He was stubborn, and strict and knew his business. And under his rough exterior was a man that would give the shirt of his back and the last dollar in his pocket. It was an honor and a pleasure to have known him. A round of taps is playing while I wish his family strength and comfort during this rough time. Rest in peace you gentle warrior. XO

“ Hey dad jus wanted to say I love you. I am proud of you for many reasons. You were a Marine, and the US Army. You always put your wife and kids first before anything. You taught me how to be a husband, I am trying to do my best. You were a great dad we fished, talked about things you were always there no matter what. I always remember you being a comedian always tried to make us laugh. You always found a way to make things work even if it didn't seem possible. Me and Melaney will always be thankful for helping us. I hope that one day I can be an example of what you taught me to be. Now I guess its my turn. Love you daddy I will always miss you but you left me with so much. I have memories, the love, compassion, kindered spirit everything that you taught me. You took a piece of me when you left but I have so much to keep me strong like you were and Ill keep everything together promise dad. love you and see you soon

“ Love you dad I'll always remember to be the great person and husband that you taught me to be . You were always a great example of a service man in the military as a marine and in the army.. you were always proud of your family no matter how crazy we drove you. “ Dear Grace & family,

My earliest memories of Carl were of him always teasing and kidding me. I always thought of him as completely dedicated to his family (and his work!). I will miss him.

Much love,

“ Dear Grace and family, As you can imagine, we all are going to miss Carl. He was part of our family for so many years and we just want you to know that we loved him like a brother, not a brother-in-law. I remember calling you and he would answer the phone and I knew you were either shopping or over at Tracie's playing games. We had our little conversations and he was always upbeat and we had a good time talking. You take care and isn't it comforting to know that Carl is with Jesus and just having the best time with him. This is a true Blessing, We will be talking soon. You and all your family are in my prayers. I love you, Wanda
