“ When I met Art for the first time about 30 years ago, his first impression is one that sticks with me till this day. We immediately connected. He was easy to like, and made you feel like an old friend 5 minutes after you met him. Some people have a natural ability to do that, and Art was certainly one of those people. He would put a smile on your face every time you saw him. I was from out of town, we met at 4am to go fishing, spent the day together in small boat, and laughed till we cried. I still think back on that day, and every so often the story of the day comes up and it still makes me smile to think of the time we had. Art will certainly be missed, but his spirit will live in in my heart and mind forever.

Till we meet again.... Mike
