“ i remember going to New York, near Poughkeepsie, when Uncle Jim worked for IBM as a draftsman and Aunt Betty really was the "fun aunt" -- we did great stuff together and then they moved to Elmhurst, a short walk up the hill from where i lived. I spent almost every afternoon there, after school, and after my Uncle Jim died, i spent most days and many evenings/nights with Aunt Betty -- we would shop and go to church together - she was attending a Baptist church in Scranton then -- and we kept in touch until I married and moved to Italy -- great memories - once i built the home where i live now in Elmhurst, i remember Aunt Betty, with her husband, coming to Sunday dinner -- do not remember her bringing her children, so i am sorry not to know either one of you, but know that she was often in my thoughts and prayers, and i wish we had been able to keep in touch better -- my prayers are with you both, and with your children -- she was a light in a dark world.
