“ Shades of Maryjane – Maryjane was raised by her grandparents from birth. Her life revolved around her family. In addition to her girls she raised two sets of grandchildren from a very young age and was a full time mother into her 80s. She and Bob put their oldest grandson through college. They also donated the school that was known as the Hallstead Christian Academy. MJ was artistic and did many craft projects including working with stained glass. She had a great eye for design which she put to good use when she and Bob undertook several projects flipping property. She enjoyed creating outdoor landscaping and loved gardening. For a short time she owned an antique shop with all of her displays being so inviting and loved talking and spending time with clients. What she didn't like was the down time as should rather be out shopping. She liked antiques and spent many hours at auctions, second hand shops, garagae sales and even the dollar store. She was not into fashion and was comfortable in jeans and a T. Always a smile and a kind word for everyone. She also enjoyed researching her family roots yet was a procrastinator when it came to organizing her research. She loved relating family memories and stories which she would quite often share during tea time. Boy could she talk. In our hearts your memory lingers touching our lives forever.
