“ My father was one of the few people who could read my mind. He always knew what I was going to say before I spoke. I don't know how many times we said jinx you owe me a Coke. He was a father that everyone would if wanted. He rarely yelled, and always had a kind word. He never complained about driving me around until I was 21. Most dad's might say when you getting your license. He's say when you're ready you'll get it. One of my favorite times was going to the firehall to set up for bingo. I felt like I was such a big help to him. I always wanted to make my parents proud. The love my father had for my mother was amazing. The way he talked about the first time he feel in love with her always made me feel like their love was stronger then time. My Mom has loved my Dad through some pretty tough times but never once did her love fail him. Many times my father told me that my mom and I saved his life. I know the things my Dad has seen in the past had haunted him but he never took it out on someone. PTSD can over take your life. Instead Dad wanted to turn his life into helping other people. I wish his health has allowed him to go on to get his master's in social work. He would have loved to help other veterans. Instead his body decided it needed a rest. Which gave him the time to spend with us. He loved being a Poppy. He was so happy to have his grandchildren around. That's one of the reasons he got such a big house. So we could all be together. I know he cherished every moment he got with them. I know the kids will miss his smiling face. I'm so thankful for Alice at Tuttle-Yeisley funeral home for her support in this hard time. Also I want to say thank you to all the people who loved my father. Your support has giving me strength I didn't know I had. I love you Richard Russell with all my heart.

“ I have so many wonderful memories of my Uncle Rick. He was always there to lend a hand to anyone in need. As my grandma Russell would say you could see the devil in his eyes when he was up to no good! I remember going hang gliding with him. I remember going over to their house and playing cards with him and Aunt Aggie. Or the time I gave Kristi fudge while we were riding in the car on a long trip. I think Kristi never stopped bouncing around the inside of that car until the sugar wore off.

I could go on and on with the stories and memories of this wonderful man. Heaven definitely gained an angel this St. Patrick's Day. I know in my heart that Grandma Russell and my brother Joe were there to welcome him through the pearly gates. I will miss him so very much, but I'm glad that his suffering on this earth is done. So, until we meet again, I will remember you with a smile on your face and the devil in your eyes. I love you Uncle Rick, and always will!

“ My dearest Uncle Rick,

I can't believe this is goodbye. You were always the kindest soul. You never had a mean word to say about anyone. Your laugh was infectious whether you were laughing at my mom or at my Catherine speaking "gibberish". I am going to miss your posts and your warm comments of love on FB. This world has lost a true saint here on earth.

Aunt Aggie, Kristi and Jeff, I can not fathom your loss. Please know that we grieve with you.

All our Love
